

Fintrac, a woman owned and US-based consulting company, develops agricultural solutions to end hunger and poverty. For 25 years, we have worked with local and global partners to increase production, improve postharvest handling, add value, and develop markets and competitive value chains for the world's most vulnerable farmers and communities.

Fintrac is seeking a Program Manager to oversee multi-year international agriculture programs. The successful candidate must have proven experience managing complex, multi-year donor-funded programs from award to closeout; the ability to develop, monitor, and strategically manage program budgets with oversight and reporting responsibilities; demonstrated experience in contract/cooperative agreement compliance, inclusive of USG regulatory knowledge; and monitoring and technical intervention reporting experience required. Bachelor's degree in related field, at least five years of program management experience, excellent leadership and written and verbal communication skills, advanced proficiency in Microsoft Excel and Spanish fluency required. Master's degree, experience managing USAID program deliverables, applied field experience in developing countries and demonstrated knowledge of agricultural development preferred. Must be authorized to work in the United States and available for international travel.

This position can be based in Fintrac's Washington, DC or St. Thomas, USVI office.

Fintrac is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to providing employment opportunities to minorities, women, veterans, and disabled individuals.
